ACCM is a volunteer-based community organization working to enhance the quality of life of people living with HIV/AIDS, to prevent HIV transmission, and to promote community awareness and action.

ACCM envisions a society free from the stigma of HIV/AIDS. We are committed to building a community where all people living with or affected by HIV/AIDS receive the support they need. We are dedicated to empowering individuals to make informed decisions related to their health.

The ACCM team has worked hard this year to re-focus our programming on the changing needs of the communities we proudly serve. Our SextEd trivia nights have not only proven both popular and informative, but have allowed us to engage students in conversations about sexual health on their own turf. Our members asked for, and organized, trips to Mont Saint Hilaire, a sugar shack, Camp Positif, and the botanical gardens. We’ve increased our attention to HIV and Aging treatment information based on member demand, including a seminar on Polypharmacy. And we have committed to changing the lube given out for free across Montreal in a pilot study we call the Lube Project—35,000 packs were given out!

We have re-branded our organization, including a new logo—based on drawings by our membership—and a widely applauded new website. We found it important to hone our communications strategy, so we have added a blog-style news feature to sort postings by topic, improved and diversified social media postings, and meaningful program summaries to refer new members into services. ACCM will continue this work through new websites for Kontak and SextEd next year.

In collaboration with our membership, volunteers, staff, board, and key stakeholders, we have established a set of five strategic values that will guide our work and programming decisions. Through the principles of learning and growing, risk reduction, support, community leadership, and self-determination, ACCM publicly commits to operating through the values of our membership. From large-scale programming launches to our daily routines, ACCM staff and board will use these five pillars as a whole to ensure what we do is reflected in, and in turn reflects, our local communities.

Finally, we’ve set course on an ambitious year ahead. Jeunes Queer Youth, our collaboration with four partner organizations, will see 100 by-and-for trans and queer youth prevention projects in Montreal high schools over the next five years. The program will also host 10 conferences facilitated by five new youth outreach workers. Our MSM programming will see a series of sex trivia nights to engage gay, bi, and queer men and promote sexual health knowledge. And our Kontak outreach workers will expand their support with and for people who use drugs, particularly emphasizing crystal meth.

To another great year!

ACCM’s Support Services programs enhance the quality of life of people living with HIV or hepatitis C by providing peer support, personal development and treatment information, as well as addressing stigma and discrimination.

Member Activity Fund

The Member Activity Fund is a grant program that allocates financial support for activities that are initiated by and for ACCM members living with HIV or hepatitis C. We encourage our members to envision the type of activities they would like to see taking place at ACCM so they can help us ensure our organization is addressing their needs and interests. For example, this past year 30 ACCM members went to Cabane à Sucre Paquette in Sainte-Anne-des-Plaines for a delicious meal smothered in maple syrup.

Women’s Social Group

The Women’s Social Group celebrated its one-year anniversary in October with a special trip to Mont St-Hilaire. Other activities included excursions to the Montreal Botanical Garden, the Biodôme, a Portuguese chicken dinner and bubble-making in Parc LaFontaine. This project is integral to ACCM’s meaningful involvement of women living with HIV as it develops their project management skills by providing them the tools to lead and guide the direction of the group.

Women’s Prison Initiative

In collaboration with the Black and Indigenous Harm Reduction Alliance, ACCM has begun designing workshops on prevention and harm reduction to be facilitated at Etablissement Leclerc, a provincial women’s prison. HIV and hepatitis C transmission is much higher in prisons due to lack of information and prevention materials. In response, we’ve given one harm reduction workshop so far and intend to visit the prison 3 more times in 2017.

Hope ‘n’ Mic World AIDS Dance

ACCM collaborated with Hope ‘n’ Mic and Camp Positive on a World AIDS Day variety show at Stud, which took place after the annual vigil and was followed by the return of our World AIDS Dance party with DJ Karl. Voluntary contributions went to raise funds for Camp Positive, a healing camp for people living with HIV/AIDS.

Polypharmacy

We hosted our annual Info-Traitement conference on polypharmacy, which refers to the effects of taking multiple medications concurrently to manage coexisting health problems. Dr. Julian Falutz, Director of the Comprehensive HIV and Aging Initiative at the McGill University Hospital Center, gave a presentation for our 27 participants.

Hope ‘n’ Mic World AIDS Dance

“With the support of the wonderful staff, ACCM has helped me get back my confidence; even more, it’s a place where I feel protected and entirely integrated.”

LOOKING FORWARD

HIV and Aging

We will be providing an HIV and Aging workshop series that will include computer and digital literacy training by and for people living with HIV. An advisory committee of people aging with HIV will provide strategic insight on programming and help ensure that the program follows the values outlined by the meaningful involvement of people living with HIV/AIDS (MIPA).

YEAR IN NUMBERS

33 new member intakes
49 Member and Discussions with 1,127 individual skills
96 members benefited from Member Activity Fund projects
48 support group sessions, including our English, French, Spanish and Women’s groups
12 yoga sessions
ACCM’s Buyers Club has been a cornerstone of Montreal’s community response to HIV/AIDS since the program was founded in 1999. On a monthly basis, the entirely volunteer-driven cooperative ensures that an average of 150 people living with HIV and/or hepatitis C are able to access nutritious, affordable food. During the third week of each month, the Buyers Club community comes together to join hands and form a human chain. In a heartening display of collective solidarity, wholesome food is then passed from one person to another until it’s unloaded from delivery vans and brought into ACCM’s storage space.

Buyers Club has managed to persevere thanks to the dedication of the program coordinator Sylvain Goulet and his volunteer team. Volunteers contribute over 200 hours every month in their extraordinary effort to keep the club running. As a result, the club has aligned itself with ACCM’s overall mandate to support greater community involvement of people living with HIV, as the people who run Buyers Club are often also themselves participants in the program.

From its central location in Parc Lafontaine, Buyers Club not only helps participants receive the edible nourishment they need, but also communal nourishment, as it offers an opportunity to reconnect with friends and acquaintances. Mike has been both volunteering and participating in Buyers Club for over a year. He explains there is more to the program than simply the food:

“There is friendship and community with Buyers Club,” he said. “Most of the volunteers are HIV positive. With Buyers Club there is no stigma. We are who we are. We develop friendships.”

The Education for Prevention Department aims to decrease the prevalence of HIV, hepatitis C and other sexually transmitted and blood borne infections by providing safer sex materials and information on risk reduction.

Second Kontak Coordinator

We expanded our Kontak gay men’s outreach program and hired a second coordinator, Jonathan Rae-Brown. Jonathan has a background in harm reduction and health promotion from his native home, London UK, where he ran a voluntary community-based organization supplying harm reduction and health promotion to the local gay community. We’ve been expanding Kontak into further online outreach with a strong focus on risk reduction, and the program has been adopting to better respond to informal sexual events in addition to organized sex parties.

“IT was very valuable to learn how to facilitate workshops in ways that hold space for young people to learn without fear of judgment. When you realize that they feel secure enough to ask questions they would not normally ask their parents or teachers, you know you are having a positive impact.”

– Alex, E4P Volunteer

Lube Project

We spearheaded a campaign to improve the quality of lubricant that public health provides for condom packs because we believe that the materials we distribute are a means to pleasure, as well as prevention, and that access to these supplies should be free. We distributed sample packs at various events and locations and then got people to text us which of the three brands they preferred. We’ve had 162 respondents to date and it’s roughly a 50/50 split between the silicone and water-based lube by ONE. These texts were followed up by a longer survey about lubricant as pleasure and prevention, to which we’ve had 43 responses in French and 27 in English.
The Volunteer Department recruits new volunteers and finds them fulfilling positions at ACCM that contribute to their personal and professional development. We coordinate intensive orientation sessions throughout the year, ensuring that our volunteers are informed about ACCM’s mission and values.

Paul Clarke’s Sovereign’s Medal for Volunteers
In recognition of his 27 years of volunteerism, Paul Clarke, was presented with the highly prestigious Sovereign’s Medal for Volunteers by the Governor General at the Citadelle of Quebec. Paul began volunteering as a driver with ACCM in 2006 and over the past 10 years he has become someone we rely on. Whether we ask him to accompany a member to an appointment, transport materials to the many sexual health workshops and kiosks we facilitate across Montreal, or pick up the donations we receive from around the city, Paul is always there to lend a hand.

TELUS Condom Packing
Over 40 volunteers from TELUS came to the ACCM drop-in and provided 150 hours of condom packing for us this year, packing approximately 8,200 condoms. We’d like to thank them all for their outstanding community engagement!

Elémentary Teacher’s Sex-Ed Toolkit
The Teacher’s Sex-Ed Toolkit will be updated to include lesson plans for elementary school teachers so they have additional resources that are inclusive, fact-based and unbiased.

Konnection at Renard
On January 18th, ACCM and REZO came together to celebrate our collaborative sexual health and prevention work with a happy hour at Bar Renard. Our various partners and stakeholders also came out to meet the ACCM and REZ0 teams and talk about sexual health in our gay, bi, cis and trans communities. Through Renard’s generosity, $1 from all food and drink went toward our sexual health and HIV prevention efforts.

E2Sex Trivia Nights
We launched our SextEd trivia night series, with the inaugural edition at McGill’s student-run bar, Gerts, and another for ACCM’s 50th anniversary at Concordia’s Reggies. The events were both hosted by our president, Jeannine, who presented questions focused on prevention and risk reduction. These nights provided a fun way for ACCM to engage with student groups and promote our SextEd program, as well as educate over 150 students about sexual health. When asked if they had recommended trivia nights to friends, participants gave an affirmative 4.7 out of 5 rating and 4.46 out of 5 agreed that trivia nights had allowed them to learn about sexual health from their friends, meaning they started conversations among teammates and learned through a less formal peer education.

LOOKING FORWARD
- Booster Program
In order to address the realities of aging with HIV, we will be merging our volunteer-driven Buddy Program with our new HIV and Aging program, adapting and expanding the program so we can better help people get to appointments and access medical care.

“...what I love the best about ACCM is the emphasis on team work and inclusiveness. I am lucky to be involved with an organization where the employees, volunteers and members always have a labour of love for whatever task, no matter how small or big...”

COMMUNICATIONS AND FUNDRAISING

New Logo and Website
We partnered with Molotov Communications in order to conceive a new visual identity for ACCM, including a more modern website and logo. The process began at one of our weekly Dinner & Discussions, where we listened to our membership’s guidance on the direction of our organization and the final results were launched during Fierté Montréal 2016.

Third Party Fundraisers
We are incredibly thankful to the many fundraisers that were organized for ACCM this past year, including a charity fashion show by P[hu]ssies; Authors in Undies, an evening of readings during Fierté Montréal organized by Chris Bilodeau; BLP Dées, a drag show at Cabaret Made, put on by the Delta Lambda Phi Social Fraternity at McGill; Bloom, Mec Plus Ultra’s dance party fundraiser; a food drive by the Global Food Security Club at McGill; and a World AIDS Day fundraiser by Université de Montréal’s LGBT student group, L’Alternative.

Artsida?
Our signature art auction fundraiser returned to the Musée d’art contemporain de Montréal for its seventh edition and this was by far its most successful year to date with $126,000 raised for ACCM’s programs and services. Once again generously presented by TD Bank, this year’s event featured work by 73 artists, including Kent Monkman, Daniel Barkley, Zilon, Alicia Lorente, and Johan Jansson.

PARCours
On October 2nd, community organizations came together to address our mutual needs by holding a parade and BBQ in Parc Girouard. It provided a chance for us to celebrate our communities’ achievements and created a focal point for our collective fundraising efforts.
